A Terrible Alternative.

BY LADY RUFUS HARDY.

"You seem to be very much struck by that picture," said my old friend the Colonel (for as I don't mean to betray family secrets, I shall speak of him as the "Colonel" only), at whose cosy nook in Birmingham I had quartered myself for a few days. The picture he alluded to certainly had attracted as unusual amount of my attention, considering that, as a rule, I am strangely inartistic in taste.

"Well, yes," I answered, my eye returning to rest on that particular object which had attracted it many times before; "regarding it as a picture, I should say it is by no means the best of your collection, but regarding it as a portrait there is something about it that "fetches" me. It is not that the face is either handsome or intellectual, but there is a strange weird something about it which the artist seems to have caught fresh from the living face and transferred to the canvas, and which all his after art had failed to paint out."

The picture which gave rise to these observations were that of a man certainly not past middle age, dressed in the fashion of the earlier period of the reign of George III. The face and figure, as regarded mere from and feature, were commonplace enough; there was nothing sufficiently remarkable in the portrait to attract more than a passing observation; indeed, on looking at it, you felt it ought to represent a kindly, genial gentleman, but somehow it didn't. There seemed to be something behind it, working out through the painted eyes, as though it or they had seen what they should not, and were haunted by some awful mystery that would not be hidden, even in the grave. Turning my back upon it I shifted the conversation, and my friend seemed by no means displeased when we dismissed the subject. We had a long, gossipy chat on many matters interesting to old friends who meet but seldom and with the long lapses of time between. It was late before we could make up our minds to separate. At last, as I left the room, candlestick in hand, I could not help, against my will, casting a furtive glance at the portrait and hastily shut the door behind me, I was dead tired, for I had come off a long journey, but when I got to bed it was a long time before I could compose myself to sleep, and when I did I was troubled in my dreams. The portrait had followed me up-stairs, slipped in to the room after me, and tried to get into the bed beside me; but failing in that went and leaned against the wall and came out of the frame and climbed up to the top of my bed, hid in the curtain folds, and multiplied itself by thousands, till the whole atmosphere, above and around me was filled with the one weird strange face. In the morning my friend hoped I had slept well. I told him the sort of purgatory I had endured, adding:

"I am sure there is some grim secret connected with that picture; you may as well tell me what it is. If it is a family secret, I promised to keep it sacred."

"Well," he answered after a moment's reflection, "there is a painful story connected with it. The portrait is that of my grandfather—Doctor Mathias, let us call him. He was one of the physicians-in-ordinary to George III., which position he occupied long before he reached middle age. He was a courteous, genial, kindly man, full of those social qualities which make a man a favourite of society. So much I have heard. When I knew him things were different. In the year 1770, full of high spirits and pleasant anticipations he went on the continent for a month's holiday; he came back at the end of it an altered man—his genial nature clouded with an ineradicable gloom. He gave up all practice, all society; bought this place and settled here; he received no visits, paid none; he lived in his library among his books, occasionally taking long solitary rambles about the country. His nature did not degenerate into harshness, but a strange melancholy possessed him; its cause was unknown, so was its cure. He turned his back upon the world, and though he was no world scorner nothing would induce him to enter it again. He was a widower and his only son, my father, was then a boy at Harrow. You may imagine this was not a lively place for a high-spirited young fellow to come home to; they saw little of each other. In due time my father married, and I was born. Years passed, and one wintry night when I was about eighteen years old, we received a telegram summoning us here. We came and were shown into the room where you slept last night. The old man, with the stamp of death upon his face, was propped up on pillows where he had lain for hours, his eyes on the door, watching for us. As we entered the room his filmy eyes brightened, his eager, outstretched hands trembled as we touched them. With the damp death dew on his brow, his voice quaking, and his whole soul shuddering as he lived over again one terrible moment of his life, he told us the story, which I had better put together in my own words.

It appears that during that momentous visit to the continent he went to Naples. He was received by the best society, and most hospitably entertained in the most distinguished social and political circles, where he passed many pleasant hours discoursing scientific subjects — chemistry, surgery, and once, among these things, the use and misuse of poison cropped up in the course of conversation; and some one present—a gentleman of some note and importance—asked what was the quickest and easiest death to die. The subject was freely debated.

One evening he returned from one of those pleasant gatherings, and in a reflective mood of mind sat looking over the moonlit city and the beautiful world-famous bay. It was near midnight when two strangers were shown into him, who requested his immediate attendance in a case of great urgency. He represented that he was there on a visit of pleasure, not for professional purposes. They were perfectly aware of the fact, they said; still, they urged him so strongly that at least they overcome his scruples, and he consented to go with them. A carriage was at the door; he got in first, they followed him, pulled down the blinds, and the carriage rattled away. He did not like his position, and began to suspect all was not right. They kept utter silence.

"They seemed to drive a great distance, and turning many times. Once he enquired "Had they far to go?" and received the brief answer "No." At last they drove into the courtyard of a great house. The door opened as if by magic. There were no lights, he might as well have been blindfolded; there would have been a total darkness but for the moonbeams which struggled through the stained-glass window, and fell in fantastic shaddows at their feet as they ascended the wide stone staircase. On reaching the first landing they threw open a door, and for a second he was almost blinded by the blaze of light that streamed out upon him. The door closed behind him as he stepped into the room. He took in the whole aspect of the room at a glance; it was gorgeously furnished, and brilliantly illuminated with wax candles; at a table near the heavily curtained window a man of stern, commanding appearance sat writing. He raised his head as they entered, and, pointing to the far end of the room, exclaimed:

"Your patient lies there, sir."

"My grandfather's eyes followed the direction of his finger and observed a woman stretched upon a couch. Where had he seen that face before? Slowly it dawned upon his memory. A few days back he had been to the theatre, and glancing around, was struck by a beautiful fair face, which for the time fascinated him; he thought it the loveliest there. He looked on it again now, but how changed! The hands were clasped upon the breast as though in prayer; a dumb, white terror was written on the face; and in the great uplifted eyes there was a hopeless, despairing agony sickening to behold.

"He enquired what was the matter—how she had been attacked, and seeing that she was gagged, he begged them to release her mouth, that she might answer his questions, adding:

"I must know something of the symptoms before I can attempt a cure."

"Your business here is to kill, not to cure, doctor," said one in a strange sad tone, which accorded ill with his stern, fearful phrase. "Your patient has spoken her last word in this world. She is doomed to die by a secret though strictly just tribunal, but we would temper justice with mercy, and save her the shame and public disgrace. You can cause her to die easily and secretly; therefore we have brought you here."

"If this lady has committed any crime so great as to deserve death," he answered, full of compassion for the unfortunate, "she must meet her punishment from the hands of the public executioner, not by mine."

"By yours, and yours only," said one of the conductors gravely. "There is no time to waste in mere words. She knows that she has deserved death, and she knows that she must die."

"God forbid!" exclaimed the physician, a frozen horror stealing over him. The ominous stillness, the grim aspects of the terrible men, struck a chill to his heart. He realized all the horror of his position.

"A doctor never travels without his tools," resumed the stranger, and as he spoke he turned the lace back from the tender throat, and, pointing to it, added significantly, "Open the jugular vein, it is the easiest and quickest way to die."

My grandfather started back amazed and horror-struck. These were the very words he had uttered during one of those pleasant gatherings at the house of a celebrated Neapolitan a few days back.

"How dare you propose to me such a crime," he exclaimed. "I am an Englishman, and will not commit murder."

"Pshaw! your nation produces as many honourable criminals as any other. To your work, sir, and quickly. If you have conscientious scruples, remember an enforced sin lies lightly on any conscience; lay that comfort to your soul. No more words," he added peremptorily—"not one; this is the time for action."

"I refuse to obey your cruel command. Let me go."

The man who had been writing, and until now had taken no part whatever in the scene that was passing around him, then rose up and joined the group. Laying his hand lightly on my grandfather's shoulder, he said;

"There is no escape for you, Doctor; every moment you hesitate you prolong that woman's pain. She must die; and you can despatch her with painless speed."

"What if I refuse? You cannot force me to commit so foul a murder.

He pointed to two swarthy figures (either soldiers or liveried servants of some noble family—my grandfather could not tell which) who had been standing motionless by the couch, and answered:

"Then those fellows will despatch you, and afterwards despatch her; they are not professional and their work will be clumsily done. If the operation be not performed upon your patient before the clock strikes, you know your fate; if you are obdurate, remember you throw away your own life without saving hers. She is doomed; no power on earth can save her.

It was vain to speak or expostulate with those fiends in human form. He felt they were as stern and inexorable as fate. It was as cruel as horrible and cowardly. Five men assembled to witness the professional murder of a young and beautiful woman! What had she done? Whom had she offended? Some secret machinery was at work; these men were mere instruments in the hands of a higher power—they had owned as much; they had no personal interest in the matter. They were to carry out justice they said—secretly, it was true; but the woman had been lawfully condemned, and the sentence of the law must be privately executed.

The woman's eyes were fixed upon them throughout the whole of this conversation, and travelled from one face to the other in hopeless agony; not a word passed her ears, and only the one despairing, changeless expression sat like a seal on her face. She knew there was no escape for her—none. There was only one question to be solved: Was she to die by the unwilling hand of a pitying stranger, or be killed cruelly by professional murderers? What a world of terror must have been compassed in a few minutes of her life as she lay watching and waiting there.

The clock began to chime the quarters; it was about to strike. At a given signal one statue-like figure stepped forward and rapidly uncoiled a rope with a noose already made; they were about to slip it over his head and hang him to a beam which ran along the centre of the ceiling. The horror of facing a sudden and violent end seized him—his death would avail her nothing for whom he died. His senses were in a whirl; he threw up his hands and sprang forward.

"I'll do it!" he exclaimed, and fell on his knees beside her. "They will have your life; I cannot save you, child; but I can shield you from their rough, cruel hands, and put you painlessly to rest. Forgive me, forgive me, for it is in mercy to you I do this cruel deed."

The white hand went out to him and closed over his in a soft, forgiving clasp; the agony died out of the sweet eyes as they rested one moment on his face; then with a low sigh she closed them and turned away her head. In another moment her young life was ebbing slowly away. He remained by her side, holding her hand in his until all was over. He would not for a second leave her with those stern men lest a wounding word or rough touch might disturb her on her way from this world to the next. He was conducted from the place in the same way as he had entered it, and when his conductors took leave of him they suggested that it would be as well if he would leave Naples with as little delay as possible. This forced murder, for such it really was, lay upon his conscience to the end of his life, and filled it with one long remorse, a living nightmare, for that scene was always present to his mind. The change that had so long puzzled us puzzled us no more. He could not carry his secret to the grave with him, so gave it into our keeping.

"It's a terrible story!" I exclaimed.

"And, unlike most terrible stories, it is true," he answered. "Come out for a breath of fresh air and sunshine, to blow this gloomy subject from our senses."—"Pictorial World."

Daily British Colonist.

SUNDAY MORNING, JULY 11TH, 1875.

L. P. FISHER, 20 and 21 New Merchants' Exchange is our authorized Agent in San Francisco.

Improvements.

In accordance with the promise made our readers a few days ago, we proceed to furnish more at length, than was possible on Friday, the important improvements now in progress in the Province. The statistics furnished by us have surprised everyone by their magnitude, and all are agreed that the effect of such vast expenditures amongst a population so small as ours cannot fail to be of great benefit.

Beginning on Government street we find the handsome, brick store for the Messrs. Wilson, of which Mr. Teague is the architect. This is approaching completion, and bids fair to be the finest shop in the city. The cut stone pillars at the sides give an elegant and yet substantial appearance, while the large sheets of plate glass of which the front will consist, will display the goods to great advantage. Upon the premises now occupied by Messrs. Wilson another brick building will be erected to be occupied by F. Garesche, banker and agent of Wells-Fargo.

Also on Government street the new Colonial Hotel, a description of the plans of which appeared in the COLONIST of Thursday, will soon be commenced, and the proprietors of the San Francisco Baths, under the same roof, have had plans prepared for the construction of 6 new bath rooms and a reception room with entrance for ladies from Trounce street Included in the same contract is a large saloon, which will be just in the rear of Mr. J. Lovett's, and will be occupied by him. These buildings will all be of brick.

Next we have Mr. McNiffe's four stores. These are two stories in height, of brick, and built from plans drawn by Mr. Tiedeman. Three of the stores comprised in this building front on Government street, while The Grotto will be placed in that portion fronting on Trounce street and will, no doubt, prove a cool retreat in summer, and warm and snug in winter.

Leaving Government street we find on Store street the piles for Mr. Spratt's wharf nearly all driven. This wharf will be similar to Dickson & Campbell's. Workmen are blasting away rock to prepare the site for the new moulding and boiler shop, which will be built close to the wharf, thereby offering great facilities in the landing and shipping of the heavy materials, castings, &c., used and produced in the Albion Foundry. Mr. Spratt also contemplates laying a set of ways adjoining the wharf, on which ships can be hauled up by steam.

Mr. Teague has the plans ready for a block containing 3 one story brick stores on Johnson street just below H Saunder's for Mr. Manetta, one of which he will probably occupy himself.

Passing to Fort street we have the three stores opposite Messrs. Fell & Co. These stores have fine fronts, and the rooms overhead, occupied by Mr. Spencer the Photographer, are spacious and convenient. The architects, builders and owners are Hayward & Jenkinson.

On this street, also, is a pretty little cottage for Mr. John Harris, a little above the Hall.

On the same street is Mr. W. J. Jeffree's handsome cottage. For this Mr. Teague furnished the designs. It is a neat frame cottage, on a good stone foundation, containing six rooms and offices, and with front and side entrances.

Coun. Trounce is architect for the construction of a frame cottage on brick piers for Mr. C. M. Chambers. This will have 7 rooms and a good wide hall and a verandah and covered way to the kitchen.

Coun. Trounce is also architect for Mr. John Wilson's new 8-roomed frame cottage on stone foundation on James Bay.

Mr. Trounce is likewise building a one-story frame cottage on Rae street.

Mr. Lisk is commencing a 5-roomed frame house on the corner of Fort and Vancouver streets; and in the same neighborhood Mr. Moody has just completed two 2 story frame houses, remarkable for their high pitched roofs and pointed gables, somewhat after the manner of a Swiss cottage.

Mr. L. Vegelius has in course of construction on Yates street a one story frame building on stone foundation with six rooms.

Mr. Synge is the architect for St. Joseph's Hospital, which will be situated between Collinson and Humboldt streets. The style of architecture will be Tuscan, and the appearance of the whole will be plain, neat and substantial. On entering we find upon the ground floor the hall, with corridors running right and left; the one to the left leading us to rooms for the doctor, opposite which will be a dispensary and room for amputating and other serious surgical operations, while the corridor terminates in a large ward for male patients, 38 feet by 19. Returning to the hall and taking the corridor to the right, we are led to the chapel which, with an anteroom communicating with the chapel by sliding doors and a reception room, occupies the space on the front of the corridor. On the other side are the Sisters' rooms and domotories, and in the rear the kitchen, bath rooms, offices and hot air apparatus for heating the establishment. Ascending the main staircase, 10 feet in width, we find on the upper story a ward for male patients 38 feet by 19, and one for females, 34 x 19, a library and 7 private rooms for patients with all the necessary offices and fittings with a promenade balcony over the piazza at the rear of the lower story. The plans took the premium offered by the Committee for competition.

The new Custom House is the next building to which we propose to direct our readers. The style of architecture is simple and businesslike. A plain brick structure on a stone foundation with cement corners and caps to the windows and doors, and the roof is of the style known as Mansard. Passing through the main entrance and a vestibule we find ourselves in the hall, with a room for the landing waiters on the left hand and just behind that the main staircase a fine piece of carpentering work. On the right of the entrance is the collector's room with a doorway communicating with that of the chief clerk; and this again opens by a sliding glass screen into the long room in which the principal business of the establishment will be conducted. On passing into this we find ourselves in a spacious apartment with 5 large windows, from most of which there is a splendid view of the harbor, enabling the occupants of the room to scan it in every direction, so that it will be almost impossible for a vessel to go out or come in unknown to them. In one corner of this room is the entrance to the lavatory, and through that to the strong room, consisting of an iron safe, the door of which has a combination lock and the whole being surrounded with thick brickwork, an air space being left between the iron and brick casing. At the top of the main staircase we find on our left two rooms set apart for the Inland Revenue Department. These are immediately over the long room and command the same view, and one of them has a safe immediately over one half of the one below, the safe of the Marine and Fisheries Department being over the other half, and the rooms of the latter department are also on the first floor at the front end of the building. All these rooms are surrounded with a fine panelled wainscot and hard finished with handsome cornices, the whole of the workmanship being of the most solid and substantial character as is befitting a Government building. There are other rooms further skyward which we have not room to describe, also a basement containing apartments for the use of the Janitor of the establishment and some storerooms for goods respecting which any dispute may arise. This basement will be almost fireproof. We might say much more if we had the space about the building and the wharf which it is proposed to erect in the rear; but will conclude by saying that it is a credit to all who have taken part in its construction.

Mr. Heisterman has nearly finished a large two story frame house on a brick foundation near Mr. Finlayson's. Mr. Mitchell is the architect. The rooms are ten in number and are all large and hard finished, the upper ones affording a splendid view of the town and surrounding country. This house, instead of the ordinary style of weather-board, is finished in "rustic," which seems to be coming greatly into fashion, and we should fancy would afford a splendid opportunity for the imitation of stone.

Mr. Justice Crease's house, on the Cadboro Bay Road, is described as one of the most commodious private residences in the Province. It is a frame building on a solid stone foundation. The architecture is in the Italian style, two stories in height and containing 18 rooms, amongst which are a spacious dining and drawing room. Hot and cold water are laid on all over the building, which is provided with all the latest improvements.

The New Ocean Mail Service.

A telegram received by the Postoffice Inspector from Mr. Rhodes, the new mail contractor, dated at San Francisco July 9th, states that first class steamers have been secured for the service between San Francisco and Victoria. The Vasco de Gama, a new English steamer of 2000 tons, will make the first trip, leaving San Francisco on the 22d inst. Another steamer will probably leave San Francisco on the 1st August, another on the 11th, and another on the 21st. The steamers will load with coal at Nanaimo each trip. They are too large to enter this harbor,

HIGH WATER.—At Quesnelmouth the Fraser rose four feet higher than was ever known before—33 feet above low water mark—flooding several warehouses and other buildings. On the opposite side of the river, several acres of Baker's ranch were washed away, and the acreage of two or three Chinese ranches considerably decreased. The Danielson trail bridge over Quesnel river was also carried away.

Ah Let, a Chinaman, was killed in the Well Mary Ann Claim by earth caving in upon him.

THE ALLEGHANIANS AND SWISS BELL RINGERS arrived on the mail steamer. They have just concluded a successful engagement at the Opera House, San Francisco, where they won the unqualified plandits of large audiences. Mr. Waldron, the manager, left California with his company 16 years ago, since when they have visited Australia, the East and West Indies, England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales and the United States, winning golden opinions everywhere. In London two entire seasons were passed in giving entertainments to crowded audiences. The company will make their first appearance on Monday evening at Theatre Royal. For particulars of the performance we refer our readers to the programme. Seats may be secured from 10 to 4 o'clock to-morrow at the Theatre.

FORESTERS.—Chief Ranger Pimbury gave a reception to Court Vancouver at Steitz's Restaurant on Friday evening. A large number of brethren sat down to the repast at which the Chief Ranger presided. After supper the usual patriotic toasts, followed by toasts of a local character and bearing, were drank. Speeches were made by the Chairman, by Mayor Drummond, Bro. Davis of Court Robin Hood, Bros. Godding, Patterson, F. Saunders and T. Mann; recitations and songs by Bros. Wall, Thistleton, Anderson, F. Richards, jr., Soar and others. After a very pleasant evening the company adjourned with the toast of "our host."

EXAMINATION.—Police Judge Elliott yesterday held a preliminary examination into a charge preferred against a bandsman of H. M. S. Repulse for having on the 16th of June last struck the Captain's coxswain upon the head with an iron marling-spike, nearly killing him. The prisoner will be brought to Victoria for further examination.

SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE.—Mr. A. J. Pinkstone, traveling agent for this leading, excellent and enterprising journal is in this city, having arrived by the Pacific. He will wait upon our citizens during next week and solicit their subscriptions to the "live" journal he represents.

C. P. R. S.—Messrs. Keefer, Hannington and three other gentlemen arrived yesterday to prosecute the location survey in the vicinity of Tete Jaune Cache.

PROF. KENNEDY will hold forth in his rooms, No. 13, at the Driard House, Sunday and Monday—the next two days only after which he will go to Nanaimo.

NEW CUSTOM HOUSE BLANKS at the BRITISH COLONIST OFFICE.

Wesley Church.

Rev. W. Pollard will preach his farewell sermon at Wesley Church this evening. Coming amongst us four years ago—an entire stranger to most of his congregation—Mr. Pollard soon secured so strong a hold upon the affection and esteem of those who gathered to hear him, that in the course of a few months it became necessary to nearly double the size of the handsome church, which has now, we believe, the largest seating capacity in British Columbia. So interested did the congregation become in their pastor that they asked and obtained from the Canada Conference permission, seldom granted, for Mr. Pollard to remain stationed with them for another term of two years, which term has just expired, and Mr. Pollard will take his departure for New Westminster next week. Not alone have the reverend gentleman's efforts been successful in increasing the congregation over which he presided. In his office as Superintendent of the Mission he has been mainly instrumental in establishing an Indian Church, an Indian day school and a Chinese school. The Wesleyan Indian Missions at Fort Simpson and other points, established during Mr. Pollard's incumbency, and now in successful operation—spreading the light of the Gospel upon the heathen mind, bear tribute to his Christian energy and zeal. Mr. Pollard and his excellent wife and family (who have aided and assisted the husband and father in the discharge of his arduous duties) will be greatly missed by their large circle of friends at the Capital.

New Westminster District.

THE LIBEL SUIT.—The verdict of the jury in the case of Gibbs vs. Brown must be regarded in the light of a public protest against the ribaldism of the portion of the press of the Province that is under the control and in the pay of the Local Government. A favorite means of attack with the Government is to have published anonymous letters attacking the private characters of political opponents. Such would appear to have been the nature of the accusation on which the suit was based; and the carefulness with which the name of the author was suppressed during the trial would seem to indicate that he is above the "common run" of anonymous scribblers. We trust that this result—hard as the costs must bear on the publisher of the Herald—considered with the wholesome example recently made of the organ in this city—will have the effect of putting an end forever to the "stabs in the dark" which have so disgraced the Government press of this country. If an official wishes to vent his spleen on an opponent, he should do it in broad daylight over his own signature, and not employ the title of "Urbanus," or "Watch-dog," or any other of the numerous hackneyed signatures that cowards borrow to skulk behind.

A MUTUAL BENEFIT ASSOCIATION has been organized in Canada which all members of the Civil Service of the Dominion are asked to join. The members pay an entrance fee, according to age, of from $2 to $16, and ten per cent. per annum on the entrance fee, and the levy of one dollar on each member is made on the death of any member of the association, the fund thus created to be paid to the heirs and assigns of the deceased member. The Dominion officers in this city met yesterday, and organized the following board of directors: Mr. Wootton, Postoffice, Chairman; Mr. Finlaison, Customs, Vice Chairman; Capt. Good, Secretary-Treasurer.

THE steamer Enterprise arrived about 2:15 p. m. yesterday from the Mainland with the following passengers: Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Blinkhorn, Mrs. Smith, Misses Mackenzie, Miss Wylde, Miss Agassiz, Miss Elfa, Father Harris Judge Crease, and Messrs. Drake, McCreight, Robertson, Nelson, McLennan, Archer, and Purcell.

ARRIVAL OF THE MAIL STEAMSHIP PACIFIC.—The steamship Pacific, Capt. Sholl, 4 days from San Francisco, arrived at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, bringing 100 passengers and 327 tons of freight Heavy head winds prevailed during the passage.

THE WEED.—Victoria prisoners no longer luxuriate in the festive tobacco. The supply has been cut off and henceforth no more "rations" of the weed will be issued.

THE French corvette Volta, expected here from Japan, has on board a son of the Prince de Joinville and grandson of old King Louis Phillipe.

AT 1½ o'clock yesterday A. M. a fierce squall of wind came up from the south-west and shook the strongest buildings for about the space of 15 minutes.

THE contract for building Victoria School house was awarded to Smith & Clark for $20,250—an amount considerably above the estimate.

THE tug Grappler towed the bark Wellington from Nanaimo yesterday, and will start back with the bark Prince of Wales this morning.

GEOLOGICAL.—Mr. Richardson and party from the East Coast, with specimens for the Centennial Exhibition, arrived yesterday.

FARE REDUCED.—The steamer Favorite is announced to take passengers to all ports on Puget Sound on Tuesday next for 50 cents.

THE REV. MURRAY, a Presbyterian Clergyman direct from Scotland, arrived by the Pacific, yesterday, and will preach to-day at the Presbyterian Church.

FRUIT, ETC.—The balance of Mr. Pitts' consignment, which was not discharged from the steamer yesterday, will be sold by auction at 11 o'clock to morrow.

Municipal Police Court.

(Before A. C. Elliott, Esq., P. M.)

SATURDAY, July 10.

Maggie Marshall, on remand on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor to Indians, was discharged.

Charley Coffin was brought up on a summons charged with assaulting a Bella Bella Indian. Prosecutor did not appear and the summons was dismissed.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—We are glad to learn the Committee are making active preparations for the forthcoming exhibition, and that there will be a long list of prizes shortly published. Amongst the various awards to be made there will be prizes for the best sample of Provincial woods, and different kinds of stone, suited for building purposes. Also, prizes for buckwheat and tares. From the great success that attended the last exhibition we have little doubt our citizens will cheerfully subscribe to promote so excellent an object as our Provincial Agricultural Society.

ARRIVED.—Rev. Mr. McGregor and Mrs. McGregor, of the Presbyterian Mission; Mr. Isaac Oppenheimer, of Oppenheimer Bros., and wife, were among the arrivals yesterday. The family of Mr. John Boyd also joined him by this mail.

THE game prospects are said to be excellent. Deer and grouse are unusually numerous in the forests near town.

THE steamer Isabel, thoroughly repaired, has returned from Tacoma.

Dominion Day at Comox.

COMOX, July 3rd, 1875.

EDITOR COLONIST.—One of the most extensive and united gatherings ever known at Comox was held here on Dominion Day at a picnic given by the bachelors. The place selected was the Courtney River Bridge, which was tastefully decorated with evergreens. The day was not so fine as we might have wished it, as there was a little rain all the afternoon which interfered with the games that are played on such occasions. Great praise is due to our committee, for the unremitting energy they displayed in making the affair a perfect success. The table was loaded with the choicest delicacies of the season, and was tastefully decorated with wreaths of flowers and boquets. About one hundred people sat down to dinner, which was courtously served by our committee. After dinner was served we all entered into the enjoyment of dancing, which was kept up to a late hour. The music was excellent, many thanks to our musician for his exertions in pleasing all parties.

So you see, Mr. Editor, if we are cut off and isolated, fortune has favoured us with a few pretty ladies, who have the faculty of making themselves very agreeable on such occasions.

BACHELOR.

THE Independent Order of Odd Fellows intend to take an excursion on the 16th day of July (which occurs on Friday) to New Westminster and Nanaimo. The steamer Maude has been chartered for the occasion and will leave the wharf at 6 o'clock on Friday, 16th inst., and remain Friday night at New Westminster, thence proceeding to Nanaimo on Saturday morning and remain there overnight, returning to Victoria on Sunday. Tickets can be procured from Mr. J. S. Drummond or Mr. Charles Hayward. Single tickets, $3; family tickets, $5; children over 10 years, $1. Those who wish can supply their own provisions. A large flag according to the regulations of the Grand Lodge is being manufactured under the supervision of Mr. Drummond and will be used for the first time on this excursion trip.

THE RAYMOND SEWING MACHINE.—In ending purchasers of sewing machines should select a machine which combines cheapness with undeniable excellence. The possession of these qualities by the Raymond Machine has so increased the demand for them that during the past year a second manufactory has been built in order to keep up a sufficient supply. The Raymond Machine is equal if not superior to the high priced American machines and costs about half the price. The Raymond is easy to learn and light running, and is supplied, without extra charge, with all the new improvements. A fresh supply received by A. B. Gray, Albion House, Government street. Sole Agents for B. C.

A GREAT VARIETY OF NOVELTIES received by last steamer, are now for sale by THOS. WILSON & Co., consisting of Grenadines Yosemites, French Muslins, Prints, Piques and a large assortment of other new Dress material. Shawls, white and colored Skirts, children's Pique and Tassore Costumes, Sun-shades, Ribbons, Feathers, Flowers, Ladies' Silk Scarfs, plain and fancy Dress Buttons, &c. These goods having been bought direct from the Manufacturers will be sold cheap.

HOUSE FURNISHING.—The new patterns of Brussels, Tapestry, Kidderminster and Felt Carpets, Hearth Rugs to match. Beautiful Cretonnes and Chintzes, Damasks and Reps in all colors, Lace Curtains and Valences, Antimacassars, Table Linen, Sheetings, Blankets, Quilts, Blind Linen, Towelling, &c., &c. A full stock of all these materials is now open at London House.—Turner, Beeton & Tunstall.

OLD CHICORY is almost a thing of the past. Finlayson's Coffee presides over the present. It has now superseded what used to be claimed as "superior to any other manufactured on this coast," and will soon be found on every well-furnished table in the Province. Prepared at his premises on Fort street, and sold by all the principal dealers.

A. GILMORE has just received a large invoice of Oregon Tweeds and Flannels, also, a large lot of White Patent-fitting Shirts, which will be sold CHEAP. Also, Overcoats and Raglans, Boys' Clothing and Hats of all sizes.

PIANOFORTES TUNED by DIGBY PALMER Thirty years' experience—Orders left at Fort street, or at T. N. Hibben & Co.'s Government street.

EXCLUSIVE TO THE COLONIST.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Eastern States.

CINCINNATI, July 9.—A dispatch to to the superintendent of Adams Express company in this city states that a desperate attempt was made to rob express messenger Burke at Long Point, Illinois, on the Vandalia Railroad last night. The engine and car were cut loose and the engineer killed. Burke barricaded the doors and kept the robbers at the bay until help arrived. There is intense excitement among railroad men over the lamentable death of the engineer, and should the perpetrators be captured, it is believed it will cost the state nothing to prosecute them. Several suspected persons are already under arrest and every effort is made by the railroad company to bring the robbers to justice.

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—General Frank Blair, jr., died last night at 11 o'clock.

NEW YORK, July 9.—It is calculated that the specie shipment to-morrow will be over a million dollars.

Judge Lawrence to-day referred an injunction restraining the Trustees of a Jewish Synagogue from permitting male and female members of families to sit together during the services; leaving the matter where it belongs, to the judiciary of the church.

Europe.

BELFAST, July 9.—The members of the Rifle team are to-day visiting the principal manufactories of the city, and were enthusiastically cheered by the operatives. At lunch the Mayor proposed the health of the team, remarking that friendly contests such as those at Dublin and Belfast tended to increase the friendship between the two nations and ought to be encouraged.

LONDON, July 9.—Mr. Hamilton of the Irish team writes to the "Standard:" "I have shot against the American teams both in the United States and in Ireland. I can say with confidence there never has been any team in this country able to beat them."

BELFAST, July 9.—A farewell banquet was given the American team this afternoon. Mayor Lindsay entered near the close of the banquet and presented Gildersleeve with a cup won by him at Clandeboye. The Mayor said the citizens of Belfast were glad the cup was given to America; after further speeches the company left to take the steamer for Glasgow, escorted by the Mayor and a delegation of citizens. Thousands of people lined the docks and piers to see them off, and there was loud and hearty cheering as the vessel steamed out. The party will visit Scotland and expect to arrive at Edinburgh in the evening.

MADRID, July 9.—Official dispatches report that the Carlist General Dorregarry, after reaching villages of Angues Castas, at the foot of Mount Guerra between Huesca and Jacaso, succeeded in entering Bologna district in Arazon, near the Pyrenees. Three brigades are actively pursuing him. The "Impartrica" says Don Carlos and staff have hurriedly decamped from Trevina. The Alfonzoists relieved Vittera and entered the city on Wednesday. The Carlists have been defeated at Trevina, with a loss of 400 killed and 60 prisoners. They are retreating to the northern part of Alava.

The Temple of Diana.

Ephesus, one of the twelve Ionian cities of Asia Minor, was famous in antiquity as containing one of the seven wonders of the world, the great temple of Artemis, or Diana. From very early times Ephesus was a sacred city; the fable ascribed its foundation to the Amazons, and the Amazonian legend is connected with Artemis. The first Ionian colonist in Lydia found the worship of the goddess already established there in a primitive temple, which was soon superceded by a magnificent structure. This Grecian temple was seven times restored, at the expense of all the Greek communities in Asia Minor. In the year 356 B. C. it was burned to the ground, but again rebuilt in a style of far greater splendor than before, the work extending over two hundred years. This later temple was 425 feet long and 220 feet wide. "The foundations were sunk deep in marshy ground, as a precaution against earthquake," says Pliny. There were two rows of columns at the sides, but the front and back porticoes consisted of eight rows of columns placed four deep. Outside, at the entrance to the temple, stood a basin of porphory, 15 feet in diameter, for the worshippers to lave and purify themselves in. The internal decoration was of the most sumptuous kind. The cedar roof was supported on pillars of jasper; the doors were of cypress. The altar was the work of Paraxiteles, and it was surrounded by many statues, one of them gold. The image of the goddess herself was roughly hewed out of wood, black with age, and greasy with the oil with which it was customary to annoint it. When the apostle Paul visited Ephesus in the middle of the first century, the worship of Diana still flourished there, and the temple retained all its original splendor. Pilgrims to the venerated abode of the goddess used to buy little models of the temple in silver, or precious stones, as mementoes of their visit, and as amulets to insure to them the protection of the Ephesian Diana. The Goths sacked the city and burned the temple about 200 years later, and in the reign of Theodosius I., toward the end of the fourth century, the furious zeal of the iconoclast, or image breakers, completed the work of destruction. The ancient city almost entirely disappeared before the modern era, the very sight of the temple being lost.

"Foul Play."

THE BARK UNION INTENTIONALLY WRECKED BY HER CAPTAIN AND MATE.

(From the San Francisco Chronicle.)

On the 8th of May last information was received in this city of the sinking of the bark Union on Clark's Island, at the eastern entrance to the Straits of Rosario, British Columbia. The bark was owned by Donald Beadle of this city and others, the Captain, J. M. Lindell, having a one-fifteenth interest. She sailed from this port on the 20th of March, bound for Nanaimo, B. C., where she was to take a cargo of coal and return to this port. The announcement of her wreck and total loss excited great surprise, because of the unusually safe character of the locality where she was sunk. Circumstances which have since transpired have heightened the surprise in no inconsiderable degree and developed the particulars of

A DASTARDLY PLOT

Between Captain Lindell and his mate, a fellow named Dean, to run the vessel on a rock for the purpose of obtaining the interest of the Captain in the insurance. The vessel was insured for $5,000 in the State Investment Insurance Company and for $5,000 in the Commercial Company. On the voyage from this port the Captain and his mate held frequent consultations over the matter in the cabin whenever the lack of deck supervision permitted.

THE STEWARD'S DISCOVERY.

Notwithstanding their caution, the steward, whose duties led him in and out of the cabin on several occasions during the conversation between his superior officers, managed to catch the outlines of the plot, and subsequently confirmed his suspicions by giving close attention to the dialogue while pretending to perform his regular duties. On the passage up, the vessel ran aground on a flat in Puget Sound, but managed to work off in about two hours and proceeded to Nanaimo. The Captain and his mate had contemplated abandoning the vessel, but, upon consideration, they resolved upon waiting until they should be on the return trip with the cargo on board. Upon the arrival at Nanaimo about 520 tons of coal were taken on board. In the meantime the steward apprised the American Consul at Victoria of the plot which he had overheard, and prophesied that the bark

WOULD NEVER REACH SAN FRANCISCO.

The Consul acquainted the United States authorities in this city with the steward's prophecy, and it was followed in a couple of days by the announcement of its fulfilment in the wrecking and total loss of the vessel. The spot which the conspirators chose for the consummation of their plot was Clark's Island, a rock located at the eastern entrance to the straits of Rosario and distanced three day's sail from Departure Bay. Before the time had arrived the boats were got ready and everything prepared for a sudden desertion of the vessel. On the third day, which was May 7th last, the bark struck. The weather was fine and water almost as smooth as in our bay. The boats were lowered and the vessel abandoned. Many of the sailors repaired to Victoria, but the Captain and mate came to this city. The Secret Service Department had been apprised of the affair, and Detective Finnegass was on the lookout for the conspirators.

THE CONSPIRATORS ARRESTED.

He succeeded in arresting the mate, Dean, on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock A watch was maintained on the residence of the Captain, but he did not put in an appearance until 9 o'clock on Thursday night, at which time he was also arrested. It will be a matter of news to the majority of readers when it is learned that to an offense of the character af which the prisoners are guilty

THE PENALTY OF DEATH

Attaches.

The mate has confessed everything connected with the plot, and his story written out lengthily with his affidavit appended will be used in the examination.

Steam Book and Commercial Printing.

At the BRITISH COLONIST office three steam power presses are kept constantly in motion turning out the best class of printing at the lowest possible rates. New styles of type are received by every arrival. Call and see specimens.

MILLINERY.—A splendid assortment of the latest styles of Bonnets, Hats, &c., for Ladies and Children at London House. All millinery orders at this establishment are now executed by a first-class Milliner from the West End of London, who has recently arrived in the Province.

FELL'S COFFEE, superior to any other manufactured on the Coast, may be obtained of all respectable dealers through out the Province.

$50 REWARD.

Ran Away From Her Home,

TYE YOW, A CHINESE GIRL, AGED about 18 years, an indentured apprentice to the undersigned, left my home, Government street, in this city, at half-past one o'clock this afternoon. I miss 3 gold hair-pins and a quantity of clothing and other articles belonging to me, worth $50 or thereabouts. She wore a light blue silk sack or coat and a green silk waist and black trowsers when last seen, and had a long queue.

Three years ago Tye Yow was apprenticed to me by a friend on Puget Sound, to whom I paid $580 and interest, the cost of bringing her out from China. Now she has ran away from me, taking the property I have described and owing me the money I paid my friend.

I will pay to any person who will return the girl and the property to CHIN KEE, Yates street, opposite Wells-Fargo's, FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of the same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the bleod. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pistules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

FRENCH MEDICINES

PREPARED BY

GRIMAULT & CO.,

PHARMACEUTICAL CHEMISTS,

8, RUE VIVIENNE,

PARIS.

OF all the medicines offered to the public for many years past, none have met with such favorable reception, or been so generally approved by the Medical Profession, as those prepared by Grimault and Co.

The model laboratories of this firm, situated at Neuilly-sur-Seine, and managed by Dr. Leconte, Professor in the Faculty of Medicine, ex-Pharmacist of the Hospitals of Paris, and formerly Assistant of Dr. Claude Bernard, Professor of Physiology at the College of France, offer guarantees to be found in no other establishment.

NURSING---PREGNANCY---EXHAUSTION.

Busart's Lactophosphate of Lime Preparations.

The preparations having Lactophosph e of Lime at their base, known as Dusart's Wine and Syrup are the most valuable tonic restoratives known. They promote the formation and the nutrition of tissues, render nurses' milk more rich and plentiful, and aid the formation of the infant during pregnancy. They stimulate the appetite, agree with feeble persons, convalescents, old people, and especially with children to counteract the tendency to rickets.

GRIMAULT & CO'S

Syrup of Hypophosphite of Lime.

An excellent remedy for all affections of the chest, it relieves cougis, effectually prevents nocturnal perspiration, and restores the patient's strength. This syrup is the only one which, ever since 1857, has invariably been attended with satisfactory results—a fact due to the purity of the hypophosphite employed. Be sure to observe that it bears the signature of Grimault and Co., on bottles of an oval shape, the syrup being always of a rose colour.

GRIMAULT & CO'S

Matico Injection and Capsules.

Composed of the essence extracted from the plant so called, they have been constantly employed with the most brilliant success in a certain class of contagious disease.

They combine extraordinary efficacy with the advantage of never causing nausea, eructations, or pains in the stomach, as do the gelatinous capsules which contain Balsam of Copahu in a liquid state; or the strictures which result from the use of injections having a metalic basis.

Gentlemen Electors of Lillooet District.

YOUR PRESENT REPRESENTATIVES to the Provincial Parliament having served their term, you will be called on to elect two others to represent the district for the next four years. Gentlemen, I think that you will agree with me that a change in your representation will undoubtedly benefit the district, I therefore offer myself as a candidate for the representation of your district in the next Parliament, and pledge myself, if elected, to serve you in truth and honesty and to the best of my ability, leaving no stone unturned in trying to secure the welfare and interests of the district and country in general. Being a comparative stranger to some of the electors I feel it my duty, as far as this notice will allow, to acquaint them with my reasons for soliciting their suffrages. Being a Nova Scotian by birth and bred, as it were, under Responsible Government, and knowing and feeling that Responsible Government, when honestly and justly administered, is the best Government yet given to a people. Having spent the last 23 years in traveling through California, Australia, New Zealand and British Columbia—the last 14 years spent here, and having seen and felt the evil effects of an arbitary Government, I therefore feel that experience has taught me which is the best Government. I am therefore prepared to uphold a Government who will give no monopolies in forest, field, mines or fisheries; who will equalize taxation, economize the treasury, immediately survey the public lands, give free grants to actual settlers, and a just franchise to all British subjects, seek indemnification for nonfulfilment of Terms of Union in regard to railroad through British Columbia, and legislate so as to remove all obstacles on our part to the commencement and completion of the railroad through British Columbia. Gentlemen, these are some of the subjects that direct legislation, and you must send men who are determined to see the evils which now crush the country remedied as soon as possible. Gentlemen, if you think I am worthy and capable of representing you in Parliament and do me the honor to accept my services, and elect me as your representative, I can assure you your confidence will not be misplaced.

I therefore beg to remain yours to command, je13c w JOHN E. LORD, Lillooet.

Electors of Cowichan District.

GENTLEMEN:—I beg to offer myself as a candidate for the representation of this district in the next Parliament. With most of you I am personally acquainted, to others among you to whom I am not known I beg to state that I am an Independent candidate, belonging to no political party.

I trust to be able to see most of you before the election takes place, and should you do me the honor to return me as one of your representatives I pledge myself to serve you to the best of my abili

I will support any measure calculated give to British Columbia a Modified Tariff, which I think ought to be granted us as part indemnification for the non-fulfilment of the Terms of Union.

I will strongly advocate retrenchment in the public expenditure. I consider the completion of the Teyah Road of great importance to the East Coast settlements and that no Government ought to be allowed to neglect it. I will urge the immediate settlement of the Indian land question and the opening of the 20-mile belt on the Island for immediate settlement.

I remain, Gentlemen, your obedient servant,

jy3dw W. Hy. LOMAS.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

No. 4 of 1875.

POINT ATKINSON REVOLVING LIGHT.

Notice is hereby given that a Lighthouse has been erected by the Government of Canada on Point Atkinson, at the north westerly entrance to English Bay and Burrard Inlet in the Straits of Georgia, British Columbia.

Latitude 49 deg. 19 min. 42 sec. N.

Longitude 123 deg. 15 min. 54 sec. W.

A Revolving White Light on the catoptric principle, elevated 119 feet above high water, will be exhibited on 1st May next. The light will show at intervals of one minute, making a complete revolution in twe minutes.

The tower is a square building with dwelling house attached, painted white, elevated 40 feet from summit to centre of Light. The Light will be visible round an arc of the horizon from the entrance to Burrard Inlet to an E. by N. ¾ N. bearing, and should be seen in clear weather 14 or 15 miles distant.

The Light should not be brought to bear to the Eastward of North by vessels in the Straits, as this bearing will only lead clear of Sturgeon Bank off Fraser River.

The bearings are magnetic.

The Light is for coast purposes and to indicate th entrance to Burrard Inlet.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

FOR RESTORING GREY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY & COLOR

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary dis position, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed promaturely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases o the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.
